

CELESTE (CHIH-HSUAN) SHIH

(669)226-9568 | celeste920130@gmail.com |  Celeste Shih | Bay Area | celeste920130.github.io

SUMMARY

M.S. in Software Management at Carnegie Mellon University (Silicon Valley). Product experience across a cloud-based AI assistant at Cathay Financial Holdings and category strategy at Southeast Asia's largest e-commerce platform. Seeking 2027 Summer PM internships. Available May–August 2027 (full-time, 12 weeks).

EDUCATION

|                                                                                                       |                       |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------|
| Carnegie Mellon University, Mountain View, CA                                                         | Expected Dec. 2027    |
| Master of Science in Software Management (MSSM)                                                       |                       |
| National Taiwan University (NTU), Taipei, Taiwan                                                      | Sep. 2021 - Jun. 2025 |
| Bachelor of Social Science in Bio-Industry Communication and Development, Marketing Focus             |                       |
| Coursework: Big Data Analytics, Statistical Modeling with Python & Excel, Data Visualization (All A+) |                       |

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                       |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------|
| Category Management Analyst, Shopee, Taipei                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | Jul. 2025 - Apr. 2026 |
| Home & Living category   5 subcategories   50+ key sellers                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |                       |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>Diagnosed a multi-month sales decline by separating external cause from controllable factors, grew repurchase through buyer segmentation and a light-bulb cross-sell (the category's top add-on).</li><li>Ran A/B tests and built subcategory dashboards for a category that grew 75% YoY in GMV.</li><li>Built an Apps Script tool for weekly flash sale planning (250+ slots, ~NT$6M weekly GMV), cutting a 4–5 hour process to 30 minutes (~9x faster); adopted by 4–5 other category teams.</li><li>Led a top-SKU price subsidy using high-threshold coupons to close the competitor price gap and lift average order value. Grew revenue 10% MoM.</li></ul> |                       |
| Cloud Product Management Intern, Cathay Financial Holdings, Taipei                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | Jul. 2024 - Jun. 2025 |
| "Smart Archie"   internal LLM assistant that turns dialogue into cloud architecture diagrams, reducing solution design time from days to minutes.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |                       |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>Prioritized and shipped 4 features (V0.4.0→V0.4.1) by designing a scoring framework that aligned engineers and PMs on what to build first, resolving top UX pain points from user testing.</li><li>Built a knowledge base of policy-compliant reference architectures (diagram-as-code) to ground Smart Archie's RAG output, and benchmarked 45+ AWS/GCP services into cloud adoption report.</li></ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |                       |
| Data Analysis Assistant, NTU OpenCourseWare (OCW), Taipei                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | Feb. 2025 - Jun. 2025 |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>Redesigned how course-video quality is measured, replacing click-based evaluation with retention and completion metrics across 100+ videos (36M+ channel views).</li></ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |                       |
| Competitive Analysis Intern, Shopee, Taipei                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | Aug. 2023 - Jun. 2024 |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>Analyzed 1,000+ livestream sessions across sellers using Excel automation to identify audience retention patterns and recommend content strategy for future campaigns.</li></ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                       |

PROJECTS

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Job Intelligence Agent — TypeScript, LLM API   Case study                                                                                                                                                                      |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>Built an AI agent that aggregates internship postings from 6 sources, ranks them by LLM match score, and drafts resume-grounded application materials, cutting 30+ min of daily manual search.</li></ul> |
| Competitor Price Tracker — Python, FastAPI, Gemini Vision   Case study                                                                                                                                                         |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>Built a tool that extracts product data from Shopee/momo screenshots via Gemini Vision and generates side-by-side price comparisons with one-click CSV export.</li></ul>                                 |

SKILLS & ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

- Product Skills: Product Strategy, User Research, Agile/Scrum, A/B Testing, Figma, Roadmapping
- Technical & Analytical Skills: Prompt Engineering, RAG, SQL, AWS, GCP, Python, Tableau
- Languages: Mandarin (native), English • Activities: NTU Toastmasters (PR Minister), GIS Taiwan